Our Ref: LD/cc/Year7CatchUp

2nd October 2020

Dear Parents/Carers

Barr Beacon School www.barrbeaconschool.co.uk

In this letter you will find an overview of what we are doing in each subject area to check the prior learning of our Year 7 pupils and what we are doing to plug gaps in their knowledge so they can catch up on any learning they may have missed from the end of primary school. In some cases, they may be starting subjects which are new to them for the first time. This letter explains how we are building strong foundational knowledge in these subjects.

We appreciate everything you are already doing to create an environment in which your child can concentrate on their school work at home, including homework. You may also find useful our guide to home learning: https://barrbeaconschool.co.uk/wpcontent/uploads/2020/05/Home-Learning-Guide.-BB.pdf

You should have also received a text this week linking to our video which explains how our remote learning works, so your child can keep up with their studies if they are unable to attend school. If you did not receive this, please make sure we have your most up-to-date mobile phone number. The link is also here: https://barrbeaconschool.co.uk/keep-up-withyour-learning-even-if-you-have-to-stay-at-home/

Here is an overview of each subject's approach. Please ask your children about their work and the feedback they are receiving. You might start by asking them the questions we are constantly asking in school:

- What are you learning well in this subject?
- What do you need to do to improve your learning in this subject?

Subject	Overview of in-class test and feedback Year 7 Art pupils will be focussing on the visual elements in Art and design and exploring art movements of the 20th Century. Pupils will develop their knowledge of art movements, the visual elements and how to analyse a piece of artwork in the initial theory lessons. They will then learn an oil pastel transferring technique and how to apply tone to a line drawing before bringing these components together to produce a collage in the style of the art movement Dadaism. Practical lessons will be assessed via teacher observation during lessons.
	Pupils will get instant feedback within their lessons regarding what they have done well and what they need to continue to work on with regards to their artwork and their homework tasks. Pupils will be assessed at the end of their rotation based on their final outcome.
Art

Barr Beacon School

Old Hall Lane Aldridge

WS9 ORF

West Midlands

arr Beacon School	0121 366 66
Food	they will then move onto the "pizza design challenge". This Food	have completed the health and safety element of the rotation,
	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
	well on and what areas they still need to work on. When pupils practicals so that they are aware of what areas they performed will be given immediate feedback on the outcome of their practical skills will be assessed via teacher observation. Pupils which must be adhered to when preparing and cooking food. Pupils will be taking part in a variety of practicals where their about the different health, safety and personal hygiene rules health and safety and personal hygiene. They will be learning When your child starts their Food rotation the focus will be on English	moving forward. When your shild starts their Food retation the focus will be on English	reflect and recraft any areas they need to develop before Students will have a series of feedback lessons in order to and identify the skills that students have struggled with. writing task. This is to identify skills that students understand lesson; 30 minutes on a reading question and 30 minutes on assessed in the coming weeks through a one-hour assessment understand the content they have learned. These skills will be key vocabulary, spelling and recall tests to ensure students strong foundations moving forward. Pupils also have regular language and structural analysis or SPaG to ensure they have specific focus on key skills such as quotation retrieval, skills. We then transition into a full text reading with a more school in order to help ease into the new reading and writing Myths, a topic they will probably be familiar with from primary In English, Year 7 pupils will have completed work on Greek Drama	narrative 'Spooky Tales'.
Duama	will apply these skills to develop their own performance to the image, narration and thought tracking to name a few. Pupils subject. Pupils will explore devising techniques such as still they will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of the introduced to drama through a period of 12 lessons whereby Within their performing arts rotation slot, pupils will be Dance	before choreographing a small section of their own.
Dance	development. Pupils will learn a contemporary dance piece subject. Pupils will learn a contemporary dance piece they will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of the introduced to dance through a period of 12 lessons whereby Within their performing arts rotation slot, pupils will be Computer Science	to create small programs using Python are used to solve problems. They will then use this knowledge will start by understanding what algorithms are and how they Pupils will then move onto starting programming skills – they the individual hardware components of a PC.
	They will then move onto looking at a computer in depth and and how to navigate around a PC. include how to set a secure password, how to stay safe online by looking at some basic technology etiquette – this will

Old Hall Lane

West Midlands

Aldridge

Walsall WS9 ORF

technologies faculty. They will be given the chance to design their very own pizza which must link to a specific design brief. They will then get the chance to make this pizza in the school's food room and this will be photographed, documented and assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basies of introducing yourself; greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge fee allow the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German sugaes, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · their very own pizza which must link to a specific design brief. They will then get the chance to make this pizza in the school's food room and this will be photographed, documented and assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbics. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. P		creative excellence) that we are currently running across the
They will then get the chance to make this pizza in the school's food room and this will be photographed, documented and assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. Th		technologies faculty. They will be given the chance to design food room and this will be photographed, documented and assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primar		their very own pizza which must link to a specific design brief.
food room and this will be photographed, documented and assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primar		They will then get the chance to make this pizza in the school's assessed at the end of their food rotation. Children will be given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German studies by conside		food room and this will be photographed, documented and given written feedback on their assessment about what they did well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many oceasions where pupils will get the chance to per assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German ulture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future well and how they can improve further for next time. There will also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over t also be many occasions where pupils will get the chance to peer assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Geography Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themsel assess each other's work so pupils are able to improve their work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried o work before it is assessed more formally by their teacher. Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical knowl Year 7 pupils have started their French studies by considering their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and lo their prior knowledge about the French-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical know have discussed where in the world French is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future. French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During a discussing some key aspects of French culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being us with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well		- using numbers alongside a solid foundation of French phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well		• •
This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well French studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well French talking about their own hobbies. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well		±
Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well	г 1 which included both geographical terminology and key geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well	French geographical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well primary topics and more specific general geographical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well used consistently; as well as keyword spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a good geographical foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well foundational knowledge as we start with the topic of Amazing Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Places which draws on many different geographical topics. Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Year 7 pupils have started their German studies by considering their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well their prior knowledge about the German-speaking world. We have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well	Geography have discussed where in the world German is spoken, along with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well with discussing some key aspects of German culture. We also start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well start with the basics of introducing yourself, greeting others and using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well using numbers alongside a solid foundation of German phonics. This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well
This is to ensure that regardless of the language they learned in Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Primary school all pupils have a strong basis for their future German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School German studies. Pupils will now look to build on this over the coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well German coming months by expanding on introducing themselves and describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School
German describing themselves and others. Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School		- Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School O121 366 6 which included both historical terminology and key historical knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School O121 366 6	German knowledge, varying from commonly taught primary topics and more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School O121 366 6		1 1 more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School 0121 366 6 build on skills from KS2. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Beacon School 0121 366 6 History knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well 0121 366 6		more specific general historical knowledge to allow them to Beacon School 0121 366 6
0121 300 0	History	knowledge recall activities are being used consistently; as well Hall Lane		0121 366 66

Old Hall Lane

Aldridge

	1 - 1 1 11' 1 1 - C - '-' 11 1 - D - 1 - 1C as keyword, spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a grounding of Historical Skills and the Norman Conquest; which will be called upon further in the following topic of Church, State and Black Death.
	Over the course of the first half term pupils are completing work to ensure they have strong foundations for our Year 7 content. This will then be assessed in the weeks prior through a 1 hour non calculator assessment. Pupils will then receive a review sheet so they can work independently with the use of MathsWatch at home on any topics they struggle with.
	Teachers will also go through the assessments and will pick up key topics to review within lessons in the consolidation week Mathematics	before half term.
1720021233300225	Within their technology rotation slot, pupils will be introduced to media through a period of 8 – 9 lessons whereby they will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of the subject. We explore camera techniques, including camera shots and angles, and we develop our practical skills through storyboarding and editing workshops. By the end of the rotation, pupils will have filmed and edited their own silent films. Pupils will need to have a good knowledge and understanding of the editing Media Studies	software we use – Adobe Premiere Pro.
	Within their performing arts rotation slot, pupils will be introduced to music through a period of 12 lessons whereby they will be introduced to the fundamental concepts of the subject. Pupils will explore performing, composing and appraising through a range of developing instrumental techniques including ukulele and electronic keyboard. Pupils will also develop a range of composing skills through exploring Music	a variety of cultures and dramas.
Widsic	Pupils completed baseline assessments in long distance running, football and endball. This has informed staff which group they should be in. Pupils have now started their first sport rotation. Pupils spend 10 lessons developing the core skills in each rotation. At the moment, pupils will be learning swimming, badminton, cricket, athletics, fitness or softball.
	Pupils will be practically and verbally assessed throughout PE	these lessons.
	In RE we will study four of the world faiths in Year 7. This will ensure all pupils have a foundational knowledge in these faiths before we go on to more thematic topics. All pupils will have a baseline test in RE so that teachers can build on their skills during the lessons. We continually strive to ensure that all pupils have strong foundations in their knowledge of RE.
	We do this by giving pupils regular knowledge quizzes, retention activities and linking learning to previous lessons and experiences. Pupils will all be assessed at the end of every half DE	term. Teachers will then feedback on the assessments and RE	ensure that all misconceptions are covered to ensure that all

Barr Beacon School

Old Hall Lane

West Midlands

Aldridge

Walsall WS9 0RF

	pupils have solid foundational knowledge before we continue to the next topic.
	Year 7 pupils will have carried out a baseline assessment, which included KS2 knowledge that they have reviewed over their first few weeks at Barr Beacon. During all lessons, quizzes and knowledge recall activities are being used consistently, as well as keyword, spelling and definition recall tasks. By half term, pupils will have a greater understanding of the fundamentals of science and have addressed the first 'Big Science	Question' about famous scientists from throughout history.
	Year 7 Textiles pupils will be focusing on health and safety in textiles, learning basic textiles skills and using equipment.
	Pupils will develop their knowledge of techniques such as tie dye, applique, casings and other manufacturing processes. They will then learn how to create design ideas developing into a final design alongside researching examples of smart and modern materials in textiles.
	Practical lessons will be assessed via teacher observations during the lesson, with a practical log of their work in their booklets. Pupils will get instant feedback within their lessons regarding what they have done well and what they need to continue to work on with regards to their drawstring bag and their homework tasks. Pupils will be assessed at the end of their rotation based on their final product alongside an assessed Textiles	homework design idea.

Thank you for your continued support.

Day to It

Yours sincerely

Ms L Draycott Headteacher

Barr Beacon School

Old Hall Lane

West Midlands

Aldridge

Walsall WS9 0RF

